

They abandoned us and when they were far away, they threw all of our stuff in the trash bags into the sea. We were in the life raft for almost one hour, moving around with the waves.

After some minutes, dead bodies started to come up and my mom was also there. 19 of us managed to get out. But eight people had drowned.